DETAILED ACTION

WITHDRAWN REJECTIONS

1. The 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph rejection of Claims 9 – 20, of record on page 2 of the previous Action, is withdrawn.

REPEATED REJECTIONS

2. The 35 U.S.C. 103(a) rejection of Claims 10 – 11, 13, 15 and 17 – 21 as being unpatentable over Toray Industries (Japanese Patent No. 0790747), of record on page 2 of the previous Action, is repeated.
3. The 35 U.S.C. 103(a) rejection of Claims 9, 14 and 16 as being unpatentable over Toray Industries (Japanese Patent No. 0790747) in view of Smith et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,378,019), of record on page 2 of the previous Action, is repeated.
4. The 35 U.S.C. 103(a) rejection of Claim 12 as being unpatentable over Toray Industries (Japanese Patent No. 0790747) in view of Mizuki et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,637,385), of record on page 2 of the previous Action, is repeated.

ANSWERS TO APPLICANT'S ARGUMENTS

5. Applicant's arguments regarding the 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph rejection of Claims 9 – 20, of record in the previous Action, have been considered and have been found to be persuasive. The rejection is therefore withdrawn.

Applicant's arguments regarding the 35 U.S.C. 103(a) rejection of Claims 10 – 11, 13, 15 and 17 – 21 as being unpatentable over Toray Industries (Japanese Patent No. 0790747), 35 U.S.C. 103(a) rejection of Claims 9, 14 and 16 as being unpatentable over Toray Industries (Japanese Patent No. 0790747) in view of Smith et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,378,019) and 35 U.S.C. 103(a) rejection of Claim 12 as being unpatentable over Toray Industries (Japanese Patent No. 0790747) in view of Mizuki et al (U.S. Patent No. 5,637,385), of record in the previous Action, have been carefully considered but have not been found to be persuasive for the reasons set forth below.

Applicant argues, on page 6 of the remarks dated June 30, 2005, that one of ordinary skill in the art would not be led by Toray to employ yarns having fineness of less than 210 denier, because Toray teaches yarns which preferably have a fineness of at least 210 denier.

However, even if a fineness of 210 denier is the preferred value of Toray, Toray does not does not limit the fineness to only greater than 210 denier; therefore, one of ordinary skill in the art would not be taught away from selecting a fineness which is less than 210 denier depending on the desired properties of the end product.

Applicant also argues, on page 7, that the value of fabric strength at break which Toray discloses is larger than the range of the present invention, because Toray employs fiber yarns having a total fineness of greater than 210 denier; therefore, Applicant argues, one of ordinary skill in the art would not have derived the claimed fabric strength at break.

However, as stated above, one of ordinary skill in the art would not be taught away from selecting a fineness which is less than 210 denier, and therefore a corresponding fabric strength at break, depending on the desired properties of the end product.

Applicant also argues, on page 7, that Toray does not disclose a tensile work at break or load at 15% tensile elongation and does not recognize tensile work at break or load at 15% tensile elongation as important parameters for an air bag; these properties, one of ordinary skill in the art, Applicant argues, would not have been led by Toray to optimize tensile work at break or load at 15% tensile elongation.

However, Toray discloses a tensile strength, as stated on page 2 of the previous Action; and therefore discloses that tensile strength is an important parameter for an air bag, and one of ordinary skill in the art would therefore be motivated to optimize tensile strength; furthermore, because tensile strength is measured by the load required to break the fabric, the tensile work at break and load at 15% tensile elongation are dependent on strength. The optimization of tensile strength is therefore also an optimization of tensile work at break and load at 15% tensile elongation.

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 1772
